Fund manager's report

Key points

Markets across the globe were roiled as the coronavirus spread and concerns about the economic fallout increased. The AXA WF Emerging Markets Short Duration Bond Fund ('The Fund') returned -0.93%. The Fund adjusted its holdings via both the primary and secondary markets. Asset class inflows slowed in February but still boast a healthy +$11.2 billion year-to-date.

Market snapshot

Markets across the globe were roiled as the coronavirus spread and concerns about the economic fallout increased. US treasuries hit new lows and stock markets witnessed some of the biggest one-week losses since the 2008 crisis. The US senate acquitted President Trump, ending his impeachment trial.

The benchmark JP Morgan Hard Currency Sovereign Index posted a return of -0.97%, while the JP Morgan Hard Currency Corporate Index returned -0.01%. Asset class inflows slowed in February but still boast a healthy +$11.2 billion year-to-date.

The US sanctioned a Rosneft unit over Venezuelan oil ties. Russia cut rates again and left the door open for further cuts in the future. Elsewhere, Turkey cut rates by 50 basis points (bps) as expected, while Kazakhstan left rates unchanged. In a surprise move to markets, the Czech Republic's central bank hiked rates by 25bps. Ukrainian President Zelensky dismissed his chief of staff, replacing him with Andriy Yermak. Fitch affirmed Qatar's rating, Moody's downgraded Lebanon and S&P downgraded Zambia but revised Hungary to positive. Argentina's Guzman said that Argentina can't service bond interest "for too long" and payments would deplete reserves. The IMF followed with a statement that they now assess Argentina's debt to be unsustainable, requiring a meaningful contribution from private creditors to restore debt sustainability. Central banks in the region were mixed, with Peru leaving rates unchanged. Mexico cut rates, as did Brazil who suggested a pause going forward. Moody's downgraded Ecuador to Caa1 but revised the outlook to stable. China reacted to the coronavirus outbreak by cutting rates and injecting liquidity, and also postponed their annual legislative meetings. Central banks reacted across the region with Thailand, Philippines and Indonesia all cutting rates. India left their rates unchanged but announced measures for effective monetary policy transmission. In an unexpected move, the Malaysian prime minister resigned. In terms of ratings, S&P affirmed India, Moody's affirmed Indonesia and Fitch affirmed the Philippines and revised its outlook to positive.

Fund activity

The Fund participated in the primary market and switched its existing holdings in Israel as well as adding to its corporate holdings in Turkey, Russia and Brazil. We maintained our investments in hard currency bonds and are unlikely to add any FX risk.

Fund performance

The Fund returned -0.93% in February, with all parts of the portfolio contributing to performance.

Outlook

The outbreak of the coronavirus has taken centre stage as markets try to extrapolate both the true extent and economic impact of the virus. Markets are readjusting to headlines very swiftly as they start to price in developed central banks altering their policies accordingly as a result. We remain cognisant of macro headlines as well as heightened geopolitical issues and try to remain disciplined in the names in which we invest. We believe that differentiation and credit fundamentals remain crucial to stock selection.

Risk factors

The Fund is subject to risks associated with all fixed income securities, including but not limited to interest rate risk and credit risk. The Fund may be exposed to specific risks, such as derivatives risk and leverage, risk of global investments, risk linked to high yield debt securities and risk linked to investments in emerging markets. Investors should refer to the Fund Prospectus for a detailed description of risk considerations.

The risk category is calculated using historical performance data and may not be a reliable indicator of the Sub-Fund's future risk profile.

The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean risk free.

Why is this Sub-Fund in this category?

The capital of the Sub-Fund is not guaranteed. The Sub-Fund is invested in financial markets and uses techniques and instruments which are subject to some levels of variation, which may result in gains or losses.

Significant risks not taken account by the risk indicator

Counterparty Risk: Risk of bankruptcy, insolvency, or payment or delivery failure of any of the Sub-Fund's counterparties, leading to a payment or delivery default. Geopolitical Risk: investments in securities issued or listed in different countries may imply the application of different standards and regulations. Investments may be affected by movements of foreign exchange rates, changes in laws or restrictions applicable to such investments, changes in exchange control regulations or price volatility. Liquidity Risk: risk of low liquidity level in certain market conditions that might lead the Sub-Fund to face difficulties valuing, purchasing or selling all/part of its assets and resulting in potential impact on its net asset value. Credit Risk: Risk that issuers of debt securities held in the Sub-Fund may default on their obligations or have their credit rating downgraded, resulting in a decrease in the Net Asset Value. Impact of any techniques such as derivatives: Certain management strategies involve specific risks, such as liquidity risk, credit risk, counterparty risk, legal risk, valuation risk, operational risk and risks related to the underlying assets. The use of such strategies may also involve leverage, which may increase the effect of market movements on the Sub-Fund and may result in significant risk of losses.
