Portfolio Manager Commentary

Performance Overview

Stocks with strong earnings such as istyle Inc. (develops an information site for cosmetics) and AnyMind Group Inc., a global influencer marketing company, performed well and made positive contributions to performance. On the other hand, the performance of Fixstars Corp. (supports the use of quantum computers) declined after gains in the previous month and detracted from the performance.

Market Outlook and Investment Strategy

We expect the Japanese equity market to experience some volatility due to changes in policies by U.S. Trump administration, but we anticipate a gradual rise in line with the expectations of emerging from deflation. Regarding positive factors, we anticipate an expansion in consumption driven by domestic wage increases and solid economic conditions in advanced countries. Potential negative factors include US monetary policy with higher-than-expected inflation, the impact of China's economic slowdown, and heightened geopolitical risks, which we believe require attention. Our research indicates that the utilization of AI is expanding across various industries, including content creation, in response to labour shortages and to improve business efficiency. In retail sectors, we observe a noticeable shift in mindset, and we expect the earnings trend of stocks linked to domestic demand growth to remain strong. As part of our investment strategy, we actively identify and explore relevant stocks in these areas to capture potential growth opportunities.
